BUILDING PROJECT OF LOCAL LEGION IS ABANDONED

Glendale Post Decides Not to Take Sanitarium's Downtown Site

The Glendale Post of the American Legion last night at its regular weekly session officially voted to abandon its building project which included the construction of a group of buildings upon the present site of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

The necessity of deciding last night whether or not the post desired to obligate itself to sell $70,000 worth of preferred stock in the project within the next thirty days was put up fairly and squarely to the Legion.

The building committee reported that it had gone as far as it could possibly go without the active co-operation of the whole post and called attention to the fact that the option on the property would automatically expire New Year's Day.

All three members of the building committee were present at the comencement of the discussion. They are Charles B. Guthrie, 103 A South Brand boulevard; Dr. William C. Mabry of 115 East Acacia avenue and Col. James W. Everington of 531 North Louise street. All of them spoke briefly on the subject and offered to answer any questions in regard to the project, but left the decision up to the action of the post as a whole.

Hold Long Discussion

After an uninterrupted discussion lasting two hours and a half, the post decided finally at 11:20 p. m. that $750 in the treasury would be better than an obligation to raise $70,000 within thirty days.

About an hour previously the post had gone on record upon motion of Vice-Commander Chalmer Day of 810 South Maryland avenue favoring the project and endorsing the plan as submitted by the building committee. The vote on this count was 30 to 20.

The motion, which had already passed, was immediately characterized as ambiguous and call for a re-statement of the motion and a recount was made. This resulted in the question being

Mrs. Olin Recipient of Beautiful Gifts

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Olin of 1120 North Central avenue, whose thirty-fifth wedding anniversary came last Wednesday night, were feted by over twenty members of the family and showered with lovely gifts, as a demonstration in honor of that beautiful and enduring partnership.

The party was in the nature of a surprise and the elderly couple were overjoyed at the thoughtfulness and love shown by their children and grandchildren. One of the happiest evenings of their lives was spent there in that house, all together again under one roof.

NEW JUNIOR SENATOR FROM IOWA IS SWORN IN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, was sworn in today as the new junior senator from Iowa, succeeding Senator C. A. Rawson in the vacancy created by W. N. Kenyon's resignation. Brookhart was escorted to the rostrum by Senator A. B. Cummins, his colleague from Iowa. The two men have been bitter political opponents for years.

NEW 'BLOC' IS FORMED TO ACT ON CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Organization of a "people's legislative bloc" to work and cooperate with the "progressive congressional bloc," formed yesterday, was effected today at the opening of a conference of about 300 progressive men and women in and out of congress, called by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, and his associates. The new "bloc" is composed of leading representatives of organized labor, agricultural and other organizations.

HOUSE PAYS SOLEMN TRIBUTE TO J. R. MANN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—With impressive dignity and in solemn sadness the house today held official funeral services over Congressman James R. Mann of Illinois, veteran Republican leader. While the body rested in the well of the house, from which Mann had often directed house proceedings, his colleagues in congress, cabinet officers, Chief Justice Taft and associate justices of the supreme court, diplomatic representatives of foreign governments, distinguished men and women and a host of personal friends, paid tribute to the dead.

THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS, $3,000,000 LOSS IN FIRE

NEWBERN, N. C., Dec. 2.—A disastrous fire that swept through and totally destroyed hundreds of buildings in an area covering ten city blocks, rendering several thousand persons homeless, was under control here early today by the combined efforts of firemen from several nearby cities. The damage is estimated at more than $3,000,000. It is not definitely known whether any lives were lost, although the chief of police informed the International News Service this morning that four persons had not been accounted for and may have perished.

PROFESSOR J. P. TIERNAN FACES INSANITY CHARGE

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Accompanied by her father, the Rev. Charles Hawn, Mrs. Blanche Hawn Tiernan, "bride for a day" of Professor John P. Tiernan, today was speeding to Chicago from Hansell, Iowa, to fight for the professor's love. The professor, meanwhile, was having a hectic time of it in Chicago, where his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frances Pulaski, charged him with insanity and succeeded in getting a writ issued calling for commitment to a psychopathic hospital for examination. Tiernan and his first wife, Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, came here late yesterday from South Bend, Ind., with their three children after having disposed of their home in that city. "My husband is not crazy and I'll stick to him to the end," she declared.

GENERAL 'MOURNING STRIKE' IN MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2.—With the whole city in mourning and all the theatres closed, the funeral took place this afternoon of the fourteen persons killed Thursday night when policemen opened fire with machine guns upon a crowd of 30,000 men and women who were protesting against the lack of water. A general "mourning" strike was called, effective until tonight. President Obregon has assured the public that the water supply will be normal by tonight. Expert mechanics are hard at work repairing the damage done to the collapsed water plant by inefficient workmen nearly two weeks ago. The city was still without water this morning but was quiet. Large forces of troops were held in readiness in event that the disorders broke out during the funeral.

GEORGES CLEMENCEAU COMES FROM SECLUSION

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 2.—Fresh and rested from the strain of talk and travel, combined with the excitement of receptions and demonstrations, Georges Clemenceau, France's aged "tiger," was to show himself to this city today. Since his arrival here yesterday, the former "war lord" has been in seclusion at the home of Joseph Pulitzer, Jr., publisher, and has not been received by the public. His day of rest had restored much of the lost vigor in his voice and he arose early this morning, set for the day's program, which included a tour of the city's historic and sight-seeing spots before his address at the Odeon. He was out for an early stroll about the spacious grounds at the Pulitzer home and walked with his usual snap of step which belies his 81 years. Following breakfast, he was to remain at the Pulitzer residence for a couple of hours, the "tiger" to emerge for the gaze of St. Louisans at 11 o'clock when he was to show himself at Washington university. Then followed a series of "visits" preceding his speech. Clemenceau will leave here tonight for Washington.

BROTHER OF FORMER KING UNDER ARRAIGNMENT

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine of Greece, whose trial on the charge of disobeying orders while commanding a Greek army corps in Asia-Minor, was set for Monday, was arraigned before a Greek revolutionary military tribunal at Athens today, according to a dispatch from that city. The dispatch gave no explanation as to why the revolutionary masters of Greece had arraigned the prince two days before the date set in the official communique issued at Athens on Thursday night. This action, however, is regarded as another move by the members of the Greek revolutionary committee to show their contempt for outside protests against the trial and executions of former state and military officials. Vigorous efforts had been made to prevent the trial of Prince Andrew. Both Great Britain and Italy had sent notes to Athens and King George expressed the wish at Athens to abdicate when he learned that the revolutionary committee was determined to go ahead with the trial. The British royal family as well as members of the Hellenic royal family scattered through continental Europe are anxious over the fate of Andrew. His wife is a sister of Lord Mountbatten, who is related to the royal family of England. It is understood that Andrew's defense is that the Greek military catastrophe in the Turkish war would have been even greater if he had not disobeyed orders sent to him from Athens. Elutherios Venizelos, former Greek premier and head of the Greek delegation in the near east peace conference, is expected to return to Athens from Lausanne next week. He will not attempt to enter the Greek ministry, but, according to reports, will strive to have a new cabinet constructed which will be favorable to his policies. Venizelos would like to have either M. Politis, or M. Michalacopoulos succeed Colonel Gonatas as prime minister. The revolutionary situation in Thrace is causing alarm in the Greek capital. General Nider has resigned as commander of the Greek army in Thrace because he was unable to maintain discipline among the troops.

GLENDALE SONG IS BIG FEATURE AT KIWANIS MEET

'Bill' Bode Composes Real Bit of Boost for City; Harmony Prevails

Good food, good music and good fellowship characterized the luncheon yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

A turkey dinner with all the fixin's was served with the compliments of Caterer William Herzel to the delight of all present, excluding the King of the Barnyard. The menu started with oyster cocktail and gradually worked around to pie a la mode.

Artificial cherry blossoms and orange boughs made a bower over the tables which were decorated with bouquets of poinsettas and dahlias from the Glendale Dahlia Gardens in Verdugo Woodlands. Suspended over portions of the banquet tables were clusters of small oranges.

Red Tie Draws Fine

Mayor Spencer Robinson was welcomed to the feast with much applause. He requested a fish dinner, but seemed to have no trouble with his portion of fowl. Amid considerable laughter, President Lyman P. Clark fined him 50 cents for wearing a red necktie. This assessment was paid good naturedly to Sergeant-at-Arms Harvey Parker of 113 West Harvard street.

Later, Mr. Robinson, who admitted that he could not make a speech because of the recent removal of his tonsils, endeavored to retain Attorney James F. McBryde of 111 East Broadway in a suit to collect damages from Earl C. Pendroy, who sat across the table and from whose store the necktie was purchased.

The raffling of a three pound fruit cake was the cause of much mirth. This was donated by the Hazen J. Titus Cake Company. It was brought to the luncheon by Percy J. Hayselden of 612 East Broadway—who won it twice in succession, although a different number was drawn from the hat each time by Harry Girard. On the third drawing the cake went to Harvey Parker. The club

Over half an inch of rain fell between 8 and 12 o'clock this morning, according to the rain gauge of H. E. Bartlett at 333 West Broadway. This shows that the rainfall so far is 2.22 inches in comparison with .99 at the same date last season.

PRIVATE CONFERENCES

LAUSANNE, Dec. 2.—Private conferences furnished about the only activity in the Near East peace conference yesterday. The Turkish straits commission was to have met this evening to discuss the future sovereignty of the islands in the Aegean sea off the western entrance to the Dardanelles, but the meeting was postponed until Monday to give George Tchitcherin, Russian foreign minister, time to arrive from Berlin.

Four Generations at Thanksgiving Dinner

Representatives of four generations were seated about the Thanksgiving dinner table at the J. C. Pyle home at 108 East Chestnut street.

Mr. Pyle's mother, Mrs. Theodore Pyle, who was born 84 years ago in the state of Iowa, headed the quartet. Then there were her daughter, Mrs. Ella Christy of Eureka, Kansas; her grandson, Harry Christy of Honolulu, and her 9-months'-old great granddaughter, Marjorie Christy of Honolulu.

Francis-Barnum-Walters Co. have just announced their plan of erecting and donating to the city of Glendale and particularly the residents of Sparr Heights, a community building. The structure, as shown in the architect's plans, will be of mission design with a ground floor of 65x100. A wide cloister effect porch will extend entirely around the building and will offer an ever shaded loitering place. The main auditorium will seat about 500 and will have a 10x16 stage with dressing rooms, and the like, making possible community plays. The building will cost $20,000.

In this connection there will also be a splendid, completely equipped kitchen to facilitate the handling of luncheons and community dinners.

On either side of a large reception room in another part of the building will be private club rooms, library room, and committee rooms. Every convenience possible will be provided to add to the social life of the community.

This community building is to be located in the second unit of Sparr Heights which opens today and is only one of the many features in this beautiful tract which will add to the comfort and entertainment of its residents.

Uncle John Says--

Me and Mary went down town yesterday to do some Christmas tradin'. And, by gosh, the stores looked pretty. I don't go much on this idea of goin' shoppin' with the women which means follerin' around from one store to another, but Mary wanted me to help select some things to send to the folks back east so I went with her. I was amazed at the size and the quality of the holiday stocks the Glendale store keepers are showin' all ready. "If everyone can't get all the Christmas presents they can afford to buy, right here in Glendale, I pity 'em," says my wife.

ANTI-ANNEXATION CAMPAIGN NOW BEING PLANNED

V. M. Hollister at Head of Committee to Assume Charge of Details

Tentative plans for the functioning of the Glendale Home Protective League, which was formed by public spirited citizens for the purpose of fighting the move to annex to Los Angeles, were outlined last night at an enthusiastic meeting held by the league's executive committee in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce.

Another meeting will be held in the Chamber of Comerce rooms tonight for the purpose of appointing sub-committees to work out programs of entertainment for a series of meetings to be held in the future.

One of the potent issues prepared by the anti-annexationists last night was that governing the most applicable way of instructing and educating the people of Glendale regarding annexation and what the expression stands for.

Educational Campaign

To this end a campaign committee, headed by V. M. Hollister, former president of the Chamber of Commerce was named to prepare an educational program on the annexation question.

Among the topics, for example, which will be discussed, criticised and explained for the edification of tax payers of Glendale at a series of mass meetings arranged, will be transportation, telephones, taxes, water and other accompanying problems.

Mr. Hollister stated last night that each and every little detail regarding the upkeep and management of a city will be taken up at these "anti-annexationists'" meetings and explained in such a clear and unbiased manner that any one will be able to grasp the significance of "keeping Glendale for ourselves."

Meeting Monday Night

The first of these instructive talks will be given Monday night at the big mass meeting to be held by the Home Protective league at the Union high school.

Just before the league's meeting adjourned last night the new directorate of the Chamber of Commerce, which had concluded its own business of electing officers for the ensuing two years, came into the league's assembly room and began participating in the session.

A member of the newly organized directorate, with the possible exception of one, gave individual expression to the fact that they were strongly "against giving Glendale to Los Angeles or anybody else."

"We are 100 per cent anti-annexationists," was the unanimous declaration of the new Chamber of Commerce directors to a man."

It also developed at the meeting that practically all of the chamber's ruling body are not only opposed to annexation, but that they are serving on various campaign committees of the Glendale Home Protective league.

Vacuum Cleaner Is Stolen From Church

The theft of a $75 vacuum cleaner from the Central Christian church has been reported by Rev. C. A. Cole. It was taken Wednesday night and its loss was not noticed until the following morning when it would have been used before the Union Thanksgiving service. It is believed that the thief entered the church during the revival services the night before and walked out with the cleaner following the departure of the rest of the congregation.

JESSE E. SMITH IS NEW PRESIDENT LOCAL C. OF C.

Board of Directors Hold Meeting; Committee to Plan for Future

Election of officers of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for the ensuing two years was effected at an organization meeting held by the directorate of the chamber last night. Those elected follow:

JESSE E. SMITH, president.

W. EDGAR HEWITT, first vice president.

CHARLES D. LUSBY, second vice president.

A. R. EASTMAN, treasurer.

LLOYD WILSON and CLARENCE E. KIMLIN were elected directors at large.

Following the election, a committee was appointed by the directorate to meet tonight for the purpose of making a thorough study of the general condition and status of the Chamber of Commerce. This committee also will work out chamber plans for the future, and will discuss preliminary facts bearing on the 1923 budget.

Directors Meet Tuesday

The results obtained at this session will be read at the next meeting of the chamber directors, scheduled for Tuesday, December 5, 1922.

At this meeting the new board of directors also will discuss the employment of chamber secretaries for the ensuing two years. This question wasn't taken up at the meeting last night.

The Chamber of Commerce's directorate as completed comprises fourteen members. Twelve of these are elective officers and two are appointees.

Served In Past

Of the five new officers elected last night, all but Lloyd Wilson, who is going into office for the first time, have served the Chamber of Commerce in various capacities for the past several years.

The new president, Jesse E Smith, replaces V. M. Hollister; W. Edgar Hewitt, first vice president supplants Roy Kent; Charles D. Lusby, second vice president, takes the place of Jesse E. Smith; Lloyd Wilson, director at large, replaces Owen C. Emery, and Clarence E. Kimlin was re-elected as director at large to replace himself.

Mr. Eastman also replaced himself as treasurer.

Epworth Leagues of Two Cities In Rally

The Epworth Leagues of Glendale and Eagle Rock held a rally last night at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. Dinner was served to over a hundred, in the basement, at 7 o'clock, during the course of which representatives of the various leagues told what each organization was doing.

Later, in the auditorium, an interesting program was given, headed by a short allegorical playlet presented by the Casa Verduga Epworth contingent, depicting a poor cobbler's dream of the coming of the Lord.

This was followed by an oratorical contest between representatives of the various leagues. Fred Peck, of the high school league of the First Methodist church, was the winner of this event.

A quartet of high school Epworth girls — Misses Florence Hamilton, Elizabeth Avent, Marion Grey and Inez Franklin, then sang charmingly.

The next number on the program was a reading by Miss Elsie Whitney, another high school league girl. She delivered two comedy pieces, "Digesting a Newspaper" and as an encore "The Stuttering Lover."

A member of the Eagle Rock Epworth League rendered a fine guitar solo.

The program was concluded by the First M. E. church league's presentation of the well-known playlet "The Three Bears," in pantomime, a novelty that proved very humorous.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all who attended.

Miss Jessie Hulbert Bride of H. P. Stock

Miss Jessie M. Hulbert and H. P. Stock were married at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, November 29, 1922, and have now gone to Sparks, Nev., to make their future home.

Mrs. Stock is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Gearhart of 121 West Windsor road and has resided in Glendale for about two years.

The wedding was performed by Rev. V. Hunter Brink, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, in the parsonage at 1124 South Central avenue. Besides the bride's parents, the ceremony was witnessed by an uncle of the bride, Norman M. Stephenson of San Diego.

Social Events

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Forty guests were present at the reception held last night by the Glendale Community Service players, at the home of the director, Mrs. Nanno Woods, 122 West Milford street.

A very entertaining program was given, headed by Don Orput, Community Service organizer from New York, who spoke congratulating the Glendale people for responding so enthusiastically to this movement.

Steven Hutchinson, vice president of the local players, a former resident of New Rochelle, New York, now a Glendalian, then delivered a short address in the form of a reply to Mr. Orput, after which a number of artists gave readings.

A. E. McCoubrey presented several selections from the poems of Robert W. Service. Nathan Dial rattled off a humorous monologue entitled "Happy Though Married." Mrs. L. Bradley rendered droll character sketches in Scotch and Negro. Miss Dorothy Wood presented an Italian sketch. All these numbers were sincerely done and well received.

Following the program Mrs. Woods made several announcements. Manager William Howe of the Glendale Theatre, she stated, has offered his house for the production they plan to stage in January. The play selected is "An Arabian Love Story," the richness and Oriental flavor of which are felt to offer great possibilities. Other plays slated for production by the Glendale Community players include "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and a New York musical comedy due to appear under some such title as "The Fun Revue."

In addition, Mrs. Woods states that the players have two good one-act comedies they will be glad to put on for any local organization.

Following these announcements, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

The Community Service idea, Mrs. Woods explains to those who may not understand how this movement had its inception, was started in the camps during the late war, to care for and improve the soldiers' leisure hours. It proved such an immediate and widespread success that, when peace came, it was felt that instead of being abandoned it should be extended into every city and town in the United States, to care for and improve the leisure hours of the whole people. This has been done with amazing success. Everywhere, the Community Service idea is taking root and growing.

ENTERTAIN WITH DINNER

Mrs. Stella Goodman of 645 North Central avenue entertained Thursday with a dinner in Los Angeles and an evening at the theatre. Members of the party were Mrs. Anna Howes, Mrs. Goodman, Walter Shopeck and Henry Forvelly. These gentlemen are recent arrivals from Detroit, Mich., who are very much impressed with Glendale. Mr. Forvelly is a brother of Mrs. John W. Lawson of the Castle apartments, and has already invested in a lot on South San Fernando road and is planning to erect an apartment house.

HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Miss Mary Stanley of 738 South Glendale avenue was hostess Friday at a pretty luncheon and matinee party. Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the living rooms and the table was centered with red carnations. Following the luncheon, the party motored to Hollywood where they enjoyed a performance of Robin Hood. Members of the party were Miss Amy Bainbridge, Miss Margaret Johns, Miss Lina Borthick, Miss Lucile Beach, Miss Gladys Sharpe, and the hostess.

There were places in New York where Billy would find acquaintances. One in particular he recalled—a little, third-floor gymnasium not far distant from the Battery. Thither he turned his steps now. As he entered the stuffy room in which two big fellows, stripped to the waist, were sparring, a stout, low-browed man sitting in a back-tilted chair against one wall looked up inquiringly. Billy crossed over to him, with outstretched hand.

"Howdy, Professor!" he said.

"Yeh got me, kid," replied Professor Cassidy, taking the proffered hand.

"I was up here with Larry Hilmore and the Goose Island Kid a year or so ago—my name's Byrne," explained Billy.

"Sure," said the professor; "I gotcha now. You're de guy 'at Larry was a tellin' me about. He said you'd be a great heavy if you'd leave de booze alone."

Billy smiled and nodded.

"You don't look much like a booze fighter now," remarked Cassidy.

"And I ain't," said the mucker. "I've been on the wagon for most a year, and I'm never comin' down."

"That's right, kid," said the professor; "but wots the good word? Wot you doin' in little ol' Noo York?"

"Lookin' for a job," said Billy.

"Strip!" commanded Professor Cassidy. "I'm lookin' for sparrin' partners for a gink dat's goin' to clean up de Big Smoke—if he'll ever come back an' scrap."

"You're on," said Billy, commencing to divest himself of his outer clothing.

Stripped to the waist he displayed as wondrous a set of muscles as even Professor Cassidy had ever seen. The man waxed enthusiastic over them.

"You sure ought to have some wallop up your sleeve," he said, admiringly. He then introduced Billy to the Harlem Hurricane, and Battling Dago Pete. "Pete's de guy I was tellin' you about," explained Professor Cassidy. "He's got such a wallop dat I can't keep no sparrin' partners for him. The Hurricane here's de only bloke wit de guts to stay wit him—he's a fiend for punishment, Hurricane is; he jest natchrly eats it.

"If you're broke I'll give you your keep as long as you stay wit Pete an' don't get cold feet, an' I'll fix up a mill for you now an' then so's you kin pull down a little coin fer yourself. Are you game?"

"You know it," said Billy.

"All to the good then," said the professor gaily; "now you put on the mitts an' spell Hurricane for a couple o' rounds."

Billy slipped his huge hands into the tight-fitting gloves.

"It's been more'n a year since I had these on," he said, "an' I may be a little slow an' stale at first; but after I get warmed up I'll do better."

Cassidy grinned and winked at Hurricane. "He won't never get warmed up," Hurricane confided; "Pete'll knock his block off in about two minutes," and the men settled back to watch the fun with ill-concealed amusement written upon their faces.

What happened within the next few minutes in the stuffy little room of Professor Cassidy's third-floor "gymnasium" marks an epoch in the professor's life—he still talks of it, and doubtless shall until the Great Referee counts him out in the Last Round.

Members of the Danish nobility, a count and his wife, recently hired out to a Saskatchewan farmer posing as laborers. They decided that to journey to Canada as a laborer and his wife would be a novelty, and so they came, traveling by a harvesters' excursion train to Regina from the east.

TODAY—H. C. HAMILTON, Atlanta correspondent, tells of the annual "cleanup" in the Southern Winter resorts by confidence men and crooks. This year the authorities propose to put a stop to it.

MONDAY—George R. Holmes, Washington correspondent, interprets the trend of the times politically, as indicated in the recent elections.

ATLANTA, Dec. 2. — The tourist season in the far South, notably the rich resorts of Southern Florida, means something more than mere preparation of hotels, golf courses, etc., to entertain the visitors. It means in addition a rousing of the state's police forces, sheriffs, constables, Federal officials, and the like, for the ranks of the tourists every year are swelled to some extent by confidence men.

Confidence games played in the winter playground run the entire gamut each winter and some new ones are thrown in for good measure. The lost pocketbook, the trick telegraph wire that is tapped for horse race results, the oil stock gamble—they and all their brothers are brought from moth-eaten records for working all over again, and, strangely enough, they prove every year that Mr. Barnum knew what he was talking about.

But the thing has gone too far. Governor Cary A. Hardee thinks so, and is going to take steps to end the work of the slickers. Instructions have gone out to every sheriff to take every precaution, no matter what that means, to see that tourists are not molested by the parasites this winter. And he is going to watch for results very closely.

The governor recently wrote a letter to the Daytona Daily News, one of the newspapers published in east coast cities that are meccas for thousands of tourists, and expressed, through his secretary, his feeling in the matter by saying:

"He sincerely believes that wiretappers cannot successfully operate in any county of the state where the sheriff of the county sees that the laws are vigorously enforced."

Whenever elections are held in the south the trite expression is heard: "Nomination on the Democratic ticket is equivalent to election." It's true, but don't let it mean that there isn't something else to worry the good people of Dixie on election day.

For instance:

On November 7 last Georgia got all excited over a proposal to rip chunks off several counties and create a new county to be known as Peach county. This by way of a sort of tribute to a leading crop of the state. But the good voters of the state didn't care much about tributes and they proceeded to wreck the proposal, and this is the reason:

In Georgia when a man is running for some state office he doesn't sit back and wait for the outlying districts to send him in with a majority. Nor does he count on the centers of population to roll up a majority that cannot be overcome by the county precincts. It works just the other way.

In Georgia each county has its quota of unit votes—two for every representative in the general assembly. And that gives Fulton county just six votes for the candidate who carries the city of Atlanta, and it gives two votes to the candidate who is lucky enough to carry the smallest county in the state. Which makes a man's vote in Atlanta worth just about one-sixth that of the man in the mountains.

So the county voters considered it quite likely that if this business of making new counties got a running start on the state, as has appeared likely in recent years, there might come a time when the south sections of the state or the north sections would be running things in Alanta and maybe erasing Atlanta right off the map as the capital. So they turned their thumbs down on Peach county.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOHNNIE'S JACKET

One day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods he stopped beneath a tree in which the Bushytail family of squirrels had built a warm nest house for the winter. Uncle Wiggily saw Mrs. Bushytail, the mother of Johnnie and Billie, the squirrel boys, sitting at a window sewing.

Of course Mrs. Bushytail wasn't sewing the window—she was sewing what seemed to be a little coat or jacket.

"Good morning, Mrs. Bushytail!" greeted Uncle Wiggily. "Wouldn't you like to come for a walk with me?" asked the bunny. "Perhaps we might have an adventure. Come along."

"I would like very much to go adventuring with you," said Mrs. Bushytail, brushing a bit of dust off the window sill with her tail. "But I must stay home and mend Johnnie's jacket. Every pocket has a hole in it."

"My goodness! A hole in every pocket!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "How did that happen? Did Jollie and Jillie Longtail, the mice children, gnaw holes in Johnnie's jacket?"

"Oh, no!" laughed the squirrel lady. "It was Johnnie's own fault. He will load his pocket up with so much trash. I call it trash, though I suppose Johnnie thinks the things are very valuable, indeed."

"Well, I took out of the pockets of this jacket," said Mrs. Bushytail, holding it up, "a top, a broken knife, some sharp stones, a lot of string, a pointed stick, a clam shell, the shell of a snail, some pieces of sticky candy and half a pop gun."

"My goodness! What does Johnnie do with all those things?" laughed the bunny gentleman, who had entered the nest house and was sitting down in an easy chair. "But I suppose I can guess," he quickly added. "When I was a boy rabbit I loaded my pockets with the same things. My pockets always had holes in."

"Well, I wish Johnnie would get a bag or something to carry his treasures in rather than his pockets," sighed Mrs. Bushytail. "I made him leave this jacket home today while I mended it. He wore his second best jacket to school. But I'm afraid when he comes home that the pockets of that will be full of holes also. He'll find a lot of things and stuff them in."

"Ha! I have an idea!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I'll hop along to the hollow stump school and I'll ask the lady mouse teacher to let me speak to the children. I'll tell them a little story and point out that for boys to carry too many things in their pockets is not right, as it makes mending work for their mothers."

"That is a fine idea!" chattered the squirrel lady.

Uncle Wiggily hopped to the hollow stump school. The animal boys and girls had just finished their spelling lesson, and they were about to practice writing, when Uncle Wiggily entered. He whispered to the lady mouse teacher.

"Of course, you may do that," squeaked the lady mouse. "Children," she went on, "Uncle Wiggily is going to tell you some stories."

"Hurray!" cried Johnnie Bushytail, right out loud in school, and the lady mouse teacher only smiled. She didn't give Johnnie a bad mark because she knew he and the others were excited about Uncle Wiggily coming to school.

"The story I am going to tell you," said the bunny gentleman as he twinkled his pink nose, "is about a——"

But just then the door of the school room slowly opened, and all of a sudden Beckie Stubtail, the girl bear, screamed.

"What is it, Beckie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"It's the Bob Cat!" cried Beckie, and, sure enough, it was. The Bob Cat sneaked into the room and, looking hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears, growled:

"I'm going to nibble!"

"Oh, please don't!" begged the bunny.

"Yes, I shall!" howled the Bob Cat, and he was about to start nibbling the rabbit's ears when,

"I'm going to nibble!"

all of a sudden, Johnnie Bushytail put one paw in his second best jacket and pulled out a stone, which he threw at the Bob Cat, hitting him on the nose.

"Now it's my turn!" bleated Billie Wagtail, the goat, and from his pocket he took a broken top, with a sharp peg in it, and threw that at the Bob Cat, hitting him on the head.

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bob Cat. But that wasn't all, for every boy animal in the room took something from his pocket and hit the bad chap with it until the Bob Cat was glad enough to run away.

"Thank you, boys," said Uncle Wiggily, when the bad chap was gone. "I was going to tell you not to put so many things in your pockets, but it's a good thing you carry so many odds and ends or I'd have no ears now. So I'll tell you a story about a giant." And the bunny did. And after that Johnnie carried as many things as he liked in his jacket pockets and his mother never scolded.

And if the toasting fork will hold an umbrella over the gold fish so it won't get wet when the rain comes down, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's bumps.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

A VARIABLE INDUCTANCE UNIT

An excellent feature of the coil illustrated is the means provided for variation. It has four taps giving a wave length range (when used with an .001 m.f. variable condenser) of from 1,000 to 15,000 meters.

The coil is of the standard honeycombed type impregnated with a special celluloid enamel that cannot be affected by temperature or moisture.

The mounting consists of a standard bakelite cell plug and fiberoid strap.

The switch is mounted on a polished bakelite block containing four metal contacts.

DRY CELLS

Wet or gravity cells are seldom found in use in radio work. The battery commonly used for light duty in that field being the dry cell, which is familiar in appearance to everybody. The dry or sal ammoniac cell is largely used in radio, not for its superior qualities as compared with the gravity cell described in the previous articles but because of its convenient, compact form. The solution of sal ammoniac used in it is contained in an absorbent material and the cell is thoroughly sealed against spilling or leakage. The outer shell is made of zinc, forming one electrode. The positive electrode is a carbon rod in the center; this is surrounded by a mixture of carbon and manganese dioxide. The latter mixture is saturated with a sal ammoniac solution and takes up most of the interior of the container. This sal ammoniac electrolyte is partly in a depolarizing mixture and partly in a porous separator placed between the zinc and the depolarizing mixture.

These dry cells are not as free from polarizing effects as the previously described wet or gravity cells. They are made in several sizes. For heavy or ignition duty they will deliver a current of thirty amperes when shortcircuited, provided they are new or little used. They lose their energy producing powers very quickly when used constantly, but in intermittent service have a fairly useful term of life, sometimes six months.

Converts Tractor

By means of a new attachment, it is now possible to convert a small tractor of the agricultural type into a mechanical ditch digger that is capable, it is claimed, of doing the work done by machines weighing two or three times as much. The new ditching device, according to an illustrated article in the December Popular Mechanics Magazine, is so constructed that it can be attached with nothing more than a monkey wrench and without any alterations to the tractor.

FORD TRIP FROM S. F. COST $3.20

Albert Morosco of Glendale Makes Run 'From North' In Sixteen Hours

"The speediest and most economical Ford car in Glendale" is the sobriquet that Albert Morosco, 914 North Louise, is applying to his Ford coupe.

Even Jesse E. Smith, local Ford distributer, who has a building full of new fast Ford models, doesn't appear over anxious to challenge Mr. Morosco's contention.

"Fact of the matter is," Mr. Smith said yesterday, "I have been shown in black and white the feat accomplished by Mr. Morosco's car. But about the speed of the autos in my showrooms, all I known is that they are going out of this place mighty fast."

Here's what Mr. Morosco's car did, according to time and cost chart kept by him on the trip and which was shown to Mr. Smith yesterday:

"It made the run from San Francisco to Glendale—a distance of 408 miles—in sixteen hours and five minutes at an operating cost of $3.20."

This is said to be the fastest time ever made between San Francisco and Southern California by a car the size and type of the Ford.

Officials of the Jesse E. Smith agency declare the cost charge for the 408-mile run—$3.20—sets a precedent for cars of any make.

Admitting that Mr. Morosco has some car, Mr. Smith says he has a "bunch" more like it. He just received several carloads, he stated, and deliveries can now be made without delay.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

AUTO ACCIDENTS LAID TO WALKERS

Auto Club Officials Claim Slow Moving People Are Cause of Fatalities

If pedestrians would assume some responsibility for their own welfare there would be fewer fatal accidents on southern California highways, according to various opinions submitted by motorists to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Many motorists write in to the Automobile club to inquire if the human race is losing the power of locomotion on its two legs.

It is not asked that pedestrians acquire the speed of movie actors in crossing the streets, but a little ordinary intelligence is suggested as an antidote for "accidentitis." The point that is made by the majority of motorists complaining to the club about thoughtless pedestrians is that some responsibility develops upon those who walk as well as those who drive.

If only a pedestrian who finds it necessary to cross a road or street would first stop to size up the traffic situation and then would move quickly and alertly in the proper direction, with eyes open for on-coming vehicles, a great deal of danger would be avoided.

Pedestrians Too Hasty.

An attitude on the part of pedestrians which suggests a dare to motorists to run them down if they can is not the proper spirit for making the streets and roads safer for all who use them. There is just as much responsibility resting on the shoulders of those who must walk across the street as for those who find it necessary to drive, point out the interested motorists who are making this suggestion through the Automobile club.

Some motorists even go so far as to inquire if the human race is degenerating to a slow crawling species of snail. At any rate traffic conditions have changed so radically during the last few years in general speeding-up that the majority of motorists have come to the conclusion that pedestrians could be of much help if they would keep pace with the times in mental alertness as well as physical agility. What do you think about this, Mr. Pedestrian?

43 Legislatures Will Revise Motor Laws

Legislatures of forty-three states in the union are to revise and establish new motor vehicle laws next year. Among the drafts to be considered are The federal aid law, the question of theft prevention, motor car registration, legislation controlling headlights, automatic signals, taxes and fees in the operation of motor vehicles, etc.

Clean Glass

The best and easiest way to clean the windshield is to wipe it off with a wet chamois and rub dry with a clean cloth. A little kerosene in the water will help if the glass is very dirty. This method of cleaning glass is to be recommended for closed cars, as it does not scratch.

IDEAS ON SPEED LIMIT ARE WRONG

Motorist May Drive Car at Thirty-five Miles an Hour With Exceptions

By J. ALLEN DAVIS
Associate Counsel of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Practically all motorists believe that the speed limit in this state is thirty-five miles per hour on open country territory. This is one of the several erroneous ideas as to speed limits that lead the motorist into difficulty with the traffic officer and police judge.

Outside of business and residence districts, the maximum speed limit on public highways in this state at night time is thirty miles per hour always and without any exception. In the day time the maximum speed limit is also thirty miles per hour, subject to certain exceptions. As is quite common in the law, it is the exception that gives the most trouble, and this is true in the present instance. Under the exception it is lawful to travel over thirty, but not to exceed thirty-five miles per hour under the following conditions:

On an open country highway where there are no intersecting highways on either side, the motorist may travel up to thirty-five miles per hour if he has a clear view ahead for a distance of 400 feet and there is no person, vehicle or other object visible within the 400 feet ahead. The reader can figure this out for himself. If one automobile is traveling at thirty miles per hour, it is unlawful for a second automobile to overtake and pass the first automobile. It would be a violation of the state motor vehicle act.

Pays to Be Careful

Another point to remember is that it is unlawful to approach or cross an intersecting highway even in open country territory at a rate of speed in excess of thirty miles per hour unless the driver, during the last 400 feet before reaching the crossing has a clear view ahead for a distance of 400 feet and can see at least 400 feet in each direction along the intersecting highway and there is no person, vehicle or other object visible within any of these distances either on the highway that the motorist is traveling or on the intersecting highway.

After contemplating these restrictions, it will be seen that it is very seldom that a motorist will meet conditions that will entitle him to travel thirty-five miles per hour, especially in the vicinity of a large city. It certainly is easier to remember that the maximum speed limit is thirty miles per hour than it is to remember the particular circumstances under which the motorist may drive five miles per hour in excess of that figure.

Single Headlight

A car driven at night with only one of the headlights burning causes the driver coming from the opposite direction to be puzzled as to which side the lamp is lighted. If he guesses wrong, only a quick turn of the wheel will avert a collision. Drivers should look out for the safety of others as well as for their own.

Parking Question Becoming Problem All Over Country

Under the caption "What Shall We Do With Them?" Touring Topics, the automobile journal published in Southern California, prints the following editorial:

"While engineers all over the country are wrestling with the many sided traffic problem it would be well for some ingenious mind to devise a method for taking care of automobiles in city and town centers. At the present rate of increase automobiles are crowding themselves out by limiting their sphere of usefulness. If the motorist of the future is to be safeguarded it will be necessary not only to regulate traffic through towns but to provide parking space for cars in the towns.

"Whether special parking spaces shall be set apart in the open, whether underground or second story space shall be provided, or some other arrangement made, is a matter for consideration but there is no doubt that some means must be devised to make room for cars if their usefulness is not to be seriously curtailed.

"The stadium at Pasadena was not crowded October 28 last when the University of California and the University of Southern California met in their annual football game. Neither was the traffic badly congested on the roads leading to the stadium. Yet cars were parked over miles of streets and a large number of visitors were obliged to walk a long distance. It was not a capacity crowd for the stadium, neither were the highways badly overtaxed. The real difficulty was in finding parking space.

"Similar situations have arisen in almost every Southern California city and some business centers are overcrowded with parked cars every day. When the various traffic problems have been worked out and adequate regulations put into effect motorists will be able to drive through towns without difficulty, but their troubles will be plentiful when they undertake to stop for a while.

"What is the answer? Must business men, visitors and shoppers abandon to some extent the use of automobiles in visiting town centers, or can some effective method be found to take care of cars? While it may be possible to consider the parking problem apart from the general traffic problem the two are closely connected and the parking question is just as acute as any other traffic phase so far as the usefulness of the automobile is concerned.

"If the parking problem is serious now it will be acute next year. The number of automobiles is increasing more rapidly than the population. Reduced prices are putting automobiles within the reach of a constantly increasing number of people and it is natural that every automobile owner will expect to use his car to advantage.

"California's extensive system of highways provides ample opportunity for motor trips of every description, but, unless the situation in the town centers is relieved, the motorist may find himself in the position of being able to drive through any town but unable to find a place to stop."

Motor Vehicles Aid Prosperity of Nation

DETROIT, Dec. 2.—Motor vehicles saved the United States from an utter collapse of agriculture and probably industry as well last year, Julius H. Barnes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and of Transcontinental Development company told a group of automobile manufacturers and executives gathered at the Chamber of Commerce.

"If the 2,600,000,000 tons lifted by the railways of this country had not been supplemented by the 1,400,000,000 tons carried by motor vehicles last year there probably would have been an utter collapse," he said.

Declaring that the motor industry still is in its infancy Barnes said it was difficult to speculate on the future of the motor transport and added:

"The situation in transportation has been materially saved by the introduction of a new and real factor through the fortunately unregulated motor industry and the public highway. In the field of transportation the play of natural law of supply and demand has saved the day. The advent of the motor transport with its flexibility of delivery and its elasticity of route service is clearly apparent as long as the public highway affords the roadbed free and open to its operation."

BIG INCREASE IN CAR PRODUCTION

Ten Per Cent Growth Over 1921, According to Figures of Auto C. of C.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 2.—Motor-car production this year will exceed 2,400,000 vehicles, or a 10 per cent increase over the previous yearly record of 2,205,000 in 1920, declared Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday night, after a swing around the factories in New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. Of this production about 10 per cent will be trucks, and at least 25 per cent will be closed cars.

"The record sale of motor cars is the result of manufacturers making their readjustments quickly, taking necessary losses and putting prices low enough to insure volume," said Mr. Reeves.

Greatest Values

"Today values are the greatest in the history of the industry and with increasing costs for materials and labor, some price increases are not unlikely. We had considerable buying by people who should have bought cars in 1921, plus those necessary to replace the worn-out production of 1916 and 1917. The 1917 production was 1,868,947.

"Next year will see still greater production, especially during the first six months, provided closed bodies are available. The industry normally makes 25 per cent of its year's production in the first quarter, 31 per cent in the second quarter, 24 per cent in the third quarter and 20 per cent in the last quarter. The last quarter of the year will be better than the average.

"Farmer buying will make for an increased production of cars and trucks next year. His crops this year will bring $1,500,000,000 more than last and he must have cars and trucks.

Cost Less to Run

"It is costing less to run cars. They are much better made, gasoline is getting cheaper with record-breaking stocks of gasoline and oil on hand, while tires are much lower in price per mile than ever before. The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is continuing its research work with the Bureau of Standards at Washington in connection with motor fuels and some interesting results are expected.

"This year has finally convinced the banker of the recuperative powers of the automobile industry and the demand for a motor transportation which we may continue to expect. Our visits and surveys of the bankers' situation shows that some small-town bankers are not entirely sold on the industry, but the whole situation is getting much better.

"The whole industry now has a new market in the demand for the closed car. This market will increase rapidly."

'Nutty' Autoist Will Run Up Against Law

"Nutty" is the epithet applied to motorists who are stealing walnuts along he highways in this part of the state, in a hot complaint filed with the Automobile Club of Souhern California.

And motorists in Southern California who are stopping their cars to pick nuts from the heavily laden trees are going to run up against the law in the future, promise irate ranchers who declare that thousands of dollars worth of walnuts are being stolen this season.

Not only are motorists stealing nuts, but they are getting away with oranges, avocados and grapes in large quantities, making a serious problem for local ranchers to face. Steps have been taken in certain sections of the state to stop this vandalism and fines ranging from $25 to $100 are being assessed against motorists who are caught in the act.

A warning to auto drivers has just been issued by the Automobile club in regard to this practice, stated that walnut growers and other ranchers are lying in wait for the persons who stop their cars to get a load of produce without paying for it.

The loss is amounting this year more than ever before. Patrols have been established among the walnut groves in many counties to protect the crop this year, and these patrols will be maintained until the nuts have been harvested.

In Whittier, for instance, says the Auto club, Judge A. B. Taylor has started a drive against the motoring vandals and is planning to hand out justice in no certain terms, as he believes that the producers of foodstuffs should be protected to a greater degree than persons who can place their property under lock and key. The orchards are open to the world and must be protected, says Auto club officials here.

Caused By Rust

An annoying squeak may sometimes be traced to the hood fasteners. The springs become rusted and cause a squeak as the hood vibrates. A little oil will stop the noise.

City Plans to Give Safety First Lesson

LONG BEACH, Dec. 2.—During Safety Week the Municipal Auditorium will be laid out like the downtown section of a large city, dummy automobiles will be placed at strategic points, and the miniature streams of traffic will be handled properly to demonstrate to the spectators in the gallery how the latest traffic devices operate, was the announcement made by Squire DuRee last night in an address at the Chamber of Commerce last night.

Railroads, street car companies and manufacturers of safety device appliances have notified E. F. Morris, secretary of the Auto Trades Association, that they will contribute to the big demonstration to be staged under the direction of Squire DuRee at the Auditorium. The safety week will open officially on December 4.

Another feature of this accident prevention period will be the buttons with the picture of an elephant imprinted. These will be distributed to the police officers, the Southern California Auto club members, the Auto Trades Association, Boy Scouts and transportation people. According to Squire DuRee, arrangements will be made whereby every time a driver breaks a traffic law during this safety week he will be given a button, and the man who made the infraction of the law will thereupon pay 50 cents. All this money will be deposited in the community chest. If the violator of the traffic law will not pay the money when the button is put on his car, he can have the alternative of driving over to the police station and paying the regular fine.

Million Cars Will Be Sold This Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—More than 11,300,000 passenger automobiles, trucks and other motor vehicles of types necessitating legal registry are now in operation in the United States, according to estimates for October based on official reports to the government.

At least 1,200,000 new cars will be the total deliveries during 1922, it is indicated.

In 1921, the number of vehicles officially registered was 10,465,995, according to reports to the roads bureau of the department of agriculture. In 1915, only 2,445,664 cars were in use, showing that the automobile industry succeeded in popularizing its product to the extent of more than 8,000,000 cars in six years.

Residents of the United States now own and operate a larger number of motor cars than the residents of any other country. On the basis of a population of 110,000,000, there is in operation in the United States one automobile for each ten persons or one for every three family groups.

According to one estimate the vehicles now in operation represent an original investment or outlay on the part of their owners totaling more than $11,000,000,000.

Since 1916, more than 1,000,000 new motor cars have been put into operation every twelve months, according to the official reports. The year 1916 brought an increase of 43 per cent in the number of cars in operation; 1917, 41 per cent; 1918, 23 per cent; 1919, 23 per cent; 1920, 22 per cent; 1921, 13 per cent. More than 800,000 new cars have been put into operation thus far.

Speeder 'Fugitives' Sought by Officers

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—Continued failure of motorists to appear in police court on speeding charges today resulted in the detailing of a special "bench warrant squad" by Chief of Police Louis D. Oaks, the members of which will devote their entire time to apprehending traffic law "fugitives." The absence of a large proportion of 200 speed violators in court resulted in the chief's drastic order. Ten offenders were sentenced to terms in the city jail by Police Judge William Frederickson.

Keep Weak Tire on Rear for Safety

It is safest to place weak tires on the rear wheels, and reserve the strongest set for the front. A blowout of a front tire may cause the car to swerve, with a variety of serious results. A rear tire blowout seldom has any serious after effect.

Auto Now Supplants Rail Transportation

NEW YORK, Dec.2.—The automobile has supplanted the railroad as a passenger transportation agency in the United States. Today there are 55,250 railroad passenger coaches in use, having a seating capacity of 2,270,000 passengers.

The seating capacity of 9,500,000 automobiles now in use is 47,000,000. Based on records for the past five years there should be 47,000,000,000 passenger miles to the credit of rail facilities in 1922. The average number of passengers per automobile is two, and the annual average mileage is 6000.

Hence the automobile must be credited with 114,000,000,000 passenger miles this year. The automobile business is the most stable of the great industrial enterprises.

Proper Water Level

When filling the radiator of the car, allow enough water to pass in it to bring the level over the end of the vent pipe.

DEVISE 'GAS' TAX TO BUILD ROADS

Western Governors Would Raise Auto Fuel Two Cents Per Gallon

There is much talk among executives of the states of the Pacific coast about a gasoline tax to build roads. At a meeting of western governors, held in San Francisco last week, a plan was discussed to tax gasoline 2 cents a gallon in California.

This state needs more money for roads, and needs it badly. The way to get that money is to have motorists pay a tax on gasoline, according to those who know, or say they do.

"No motorists or automobile organization would oppose a tax on gasoline, if assurance could be given that the money raised by taxing gasoline would go into roads and nothing else," states Robert W. Martland, secretary-manager of the California Automobile Trade association, who addressed the meeting of governors.

Montana Governor There

"At the meeting, Governor Dixon of Montana told the story of the gasoline tax in his state. He said that gasoline was taxed 2 cents a gallon, and that the first year the money was used for the roads. Then the next legislature, finding need for additional funds for the general expenses of the state, turned part of the money raised by the gasoline tax into the general fund, then they took all of it.

"The only way the motorists of California can be assured that the money raised by a gasoline tax, will go permanently into road improvements and maintenance, is to pass an amendment to the constitution with that provision.

"Suppose the 1923 legislature passed a bill taxing gasoline 2 cents a gallon, which experts estimate, would raise over $7,000,000 a year. The legislature would get the bill through with the provision that all the money be used for roads. Then in 1925, with state expenses increasing right along, the law makers found that money was needed for general expenses. It would be a simple thing to change the law so that part of the gasoline tax money would be used for roads and the rest turned into the general fund

Would Be Painless

"Always remember that a tax on gasoline is a 'painless tax.' It is the easiest kind of a tax to collect. It would be collected at the source, from the big refiners, and the charges passed down the line to the consumer.

"It would be easy to increase the tax to 3 cents a gallon and on up as the years pass.

"This sounds like it could not be true, you say, but Montana has experienced just this thing in the last few years. Money collected from gasoline taxes is now going into the general funds of the state, and it all should be used for roads, because the people who

HEAVY DEMANDS FOR CLOSED CARS

Maxwell Corporation Sets New Record; Club Coupe Proving Popular

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 2.—Maxwell Motor Corporation's closed car production, which has shown steady gains throughout the year, has now reached a point higher than ever before in the history of the company, and the unusually large buying demand is forcing the Maxwell factories to work day and night. There are also substantial indications that even the present high mark may be exceeded within the next few months.

For the past year Maxwell closed models have held an exceptionally strong position in a market ruled by intense competition. Several times it was found necessary to increase production materially in the company's large body plants in Dayton, Ohio. And recently additions were made in the Dayton properties which permitted the Maxwell organization to shoot at a manufacturing schedule that would more closely conform to the steady and insistent buying demand. The present high closed car output is the direct result of the greatly expanded resources for fine closed car manufacture, it is pointed out by Arthur E. Barker, vice-president of the company, but even with this tremendous schedule it has been found necessary to make further increases, and in the past week the Maxwell factories have been in operation nights as well as days. There is every evidence that this condition will continue.

Increased Facilities

"Our increased facilities for building closed cars have made possible the attainment of what is believed to be the highest proportionate closed-car production ever recorded for a car of or above the Maxwell price," said Mr. Barker. "And our plans for the next few months call for even more remarkable closed-car manufacturing developments in our factories.

"The Maxwell club coupe, a two-passenger enclosed vehicle that has found instant favor in the less than $1000 class, is being turned out in increasing quantities each day. As soon as we are able to realize our production requirements in this model, I feel that our closed cars will represent an even greater proportion of our total schedule.

"The public response to this vehicle has been so wonderful that we are already warning dealers and motor car users to place orders well in advance."

It was also stated that all club coupes that could possibly be built in the first two months of its manufacture were sold in less than one week after the car was announced.

The new Maxwell club coupe will be shown this week in the salesroom of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street.

NASH DURABILITY KNOWN, IS CLAIM

E. B. Sutton, Local Agent, Remarks Construction of New Machines

E. B. Sutton of Glendale Nash Sales, local distributor of Nash cars, says that those familiar with the erection and construction of buildings best appreciate the importance of the sub-structure or frame of Nash cars. "No detail has been overlooked that makes for durability and strength," he asserts.

"These operations almost invariably are hidden underneath the paint of the completed car. Every joint must fit perfectly; it must be mortised, if the body is to withstand the rack and weave of the road; no lapping of joints here, no makeshifts. The mortised joints are glued and then screwed together.

"The frame thus completed is primed with a coat of oil paint, after which steel panels are applied.

Doors Hung First

"The doors are then hung and the body is sent to the paint department where the steel is cleaned and the first coat of paint or primer is applied. Then comes a lead coat and several additional coats of paint. Each of these processes takes several days for application and drying.

"All this time the body is drying. Later it goes into the trim department where for the first time it takes on the appearance of a finished car. The upholstery is installed, carpets are fitted and then in the final assembly finish mouldings, mountings, windshield are added.

"But, before the car is permitted to depart on its journey, the paint department again takes a hand. It must have a final coat of varnish; it must be rubbed again and it must be dried. All told the body undergoes twenty-one operations in the paint department."

Motor Fine Money Used to Build Road

In Connecticut the State law requires that all fines and registration fees must be applied to the building and upkeep of State roads. Thus 49 cents out of each $1 the motorist pays is spent for new hard-surfaced roads.

CHEVROLET MAKES ECONOMICAL TRIP

C. L. Smith Drives Coupe From Oakland Without Touching Engine

C. L. Smith, Glendale dealer for the Chevrolet car, has always been a strong booster for enclosed cars at this season of the year.

"Heretofore," as he stated yesterday, "I have based my arguments principally on theoretical facts. I took other people's word for it. Now, however, I know at first hand that a sedan or coupe cannot be beaten for travel during the winter months."

Fact of the matter is, Mr. Smith just completed a motor trip from Oakland to Glendale in one of his new model Chevrolet coupes.

Encased in his coupe, he said that he enjoyed the trip very much. But, on the outside, the weather was terrible. From Fresno to Bakersfield he said he drove through a blinding rain. He also encountered considerable snow on the ridge.

Took Bad Roads Easy

Irrespective of the inclement weather and bad roads, Mr. Smith said his car came through in fine shape. He also stated that his car didn't use any oil or water on the 422-mile drive.

The new Chevrolet coupe, such as Mr. Smith drove, is now on display at the firm's showroom at Orange and Colorado. It is the first 1923 Chevrolet coupe to be shown in this territory.

New attachments on the coupe include dash lamps, pockets in doors, which are leather lined, and twin locks on the carriage. Mr. Smith says the new model is even much prettier and complete than the 1922 make.

REASON FOR 'HUP' POPULARITY TOLD

Lanier Bartlett Says Build and Equipment of Car Make Many Friends

Some of the reasons why, in his opinion, the Hupmobile car's popularity is growing, were enumerated yesterday by Lanier Bartlett, member of the firm of Bartlett & French, local dealers for the Hupmobile car. He said:

1—One of the most disagreeable as well as the most necessary jobs around a car, is lubrication. On Hupmobiles this is made clean, quick, positive and easy by the grease gun system.

2—The Hupmobile gasoline tank has a two-gallon reserve available by simply turning a valve. There is no single feature in any car that gives a greater feeling of comfort and confidence than a reserve supply of fuel in case of emergency.

3—The Hupmobile carburetor is designed to give maximum efficiency with all grades of fuel, and has two simple adjustments—one for idling, and one for producing extra low fuel consumption.

4—The windshield cleaner is standard equipment on the Hupmobile. This is an important feature from the standpoint of both comfort and safety. On Hupmobile closed cars a windshield sun visor is standard equipment.

5—The Hupmobile light switch permits independent lighting of the rear light. This is especially important where angle parking at the curb is the rule, saving the batteries and preventing headlight glare for passersby on the sidewalk.

James H. French, of the local firm, is due to return to Glendale next Wednesday. Mr. French motored to San Francisco with his family in a "Hup" the first of the week.

Decoration Job Is Let for Auto Show

The contract for the decorations at Oakland's Fifth Annual Automobile Show were let last week to Abbott & King, designers, who submitted a wonderfully attractive Egyption design for Oakland's auditorium. It is based on color and there will be some of the most attractive decorations ever seen at any show when Bob Martland, manager of the show, opens the doors Saturday night, January 13.

Designs were submitted by some of the best known decorators of the state. They came from San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles. The show committee headed by Howard B. Rector, reported it was difficult to make the selection.

That their selection was a good one was proved by the admiring throng of automobile men who saw the model of the finished job in the manager's office. There will be thousands of vari-colored lights used to illuminate the decorative features and throw light on the cars below.

Passenger cars will be displayed in the main arena of the auditorium, and the corridors will be given up to trucks, and accessories. The accessory feature of the show this year bids fair to be one of the best of the display. Several body builders and accessory men have already bid for space, and many more are expected to apply for accommodations before the opening date.

There will be more room for accessories this year than ever before. The show management has secured the entire building, including the theater. Several of the dealers are making arrangements to display moving pictures in the theater during the show. This feature will be another interesting one for those who want to see the latest in motordom.

NEW Reo 4-PASSENGER COUPE

Never Has $2110 Bought As Much Closed Car Value

—All-steel paneled body, richly upholstered
—Hardwood framework, braced with drop forgings
—Mounted on the famous Reo Six-Cylinder Chassis

NEVER have beauty, utility and mechanical goodness so effectively joined forces with economy as they have in this new Reo Coupe.

1923 is anticipated by its design of impressive dignity,—by its never-grow-tiresome body lines and cord-tire-equipped steel disc wheels with demountable rims.

Under its richly finished paneling of sturdy steel is a rugged hardwood framework, fashioned and fabricated as only master coach-builders know how.

Over the wide, deep, springy seats is upholstering that makes instant friends by its appearance, and lasting ones by its wearing qualities.

Clubby coziness for four occupants, whether wide of girth or long of limb, is definitely assured by a clever seating arrangement. There's freedom of movement for all, with an extra measure for the driver.

Mechanical reliability that is institutionally Reo is built into the double-framed chassis, with the power units suspended in an inner frame which, in turn, is cradled within the outer one. Real shock-absorbing construction, this, with more-miles-of-car-service proving its soundness.

Fifty horse-power is developed in the six ground cylinders in which travel the carbon-proof aluminum-alloy pistons. And quietly carried to the drive wheels through a 4-bearing crankshaft, a 13-plate clutch, an amidship-mounted transmission and smoothly operating universal joints.

Beautifully finished in a rich shade of Cuban gray, light below the belt and slightly darker above. Optional: Reo blue or Burgundy. Fenders and running gear black enameled.

TRADE IN YOUR OLD CAR—WE WILL TAKE IT

Just Plain Facts, Here, But They Speak Out Loud

Auxiliary seat provides arm-chair comfort for the fourth passenger, and folds completely out of the way when not required.

The top is of sound-absorbing construction, muffling mechanical noises instead of accentuating them.

Door and side windows slide gently and quietly in felt-lined channels; rear window glass is softly embedded in rubber. Thus are window rattles eliminated.

Window curtains delicately match with the shade of upholstering, and are on spring rollers.

A neat parcel compartment behind the driver's seat, and an extra roomy one on the rear deck provide ample storage space for baggage.

The new style visor is of pleasing convenience; so is the cowl ventilator.

Step mats,—corrugated rubber, aluminum framed,—have self-contained kick plates and scrapers.

Parking lights on cowl harmonize in design with the new drum-type headlights. Of course there's a dome light inside.

ENDURANCE TOUR MADE BY BIG SIX

L. N. Edlefson Drives Studebaker From Idaho to Glendale In Eight Days

Driving a Big Six Studebaker car through snow and mud from Rexburg, Idaho, to Glendale, a distance of 1500 miles, in the record time of eight days, was the feat just accomplished by L. N. Edlefson of this city. Mr. Edlefson resides at 406 West Oak street.

In a report of his trip made yesterday to Don Packer, of the Packer Auto company, Glendale distributor for the Studebaker car, Mr. Edlefson said that his car averaged thirteen miles to the gallon of gasoline over the roughest roadbed he had ever motored.

The highway in question, he stated, is southern Utah. In this territory his car plowed through mud six inches deep for more than twenty-two miles. When he left Idaho he said the snow was six inches deep. The intense cold made it necessary for him to keep his radiator covered with a gunny sack for more than 300 miles, he asserted.

Itinerary of Trip

Mr. Edelfson's tour from Rexburg was made via Salt Lake City, St. George, Utah, Las Vegas and Junction, Nev., and thence along the Santa Fe to Barstow and San Bernardino to Glendale.

He is particularly proud of the run made by his car, he told Mr. Packer, because it effected the seemingly impassable trip without even a normal amount of expense. He used less than two quarts of oil. He stated also that the luggage carried on his car weighed approximately 1100 pounds.

Mr. Edelfson, who is an auto mechanic by profession, intends taking up a permanent residence in Glendale. He was accompanied to the city by his family.

DRIVER TO HAVE MORE AUTO SPACE

Harry White of Reo Agency, Says Paris Motor Show Dictates Change

Conspicuous among the trends of automobile designing noted at the Seventeenth Paris Automobile Show, is that which dictates a cleaner driver's compartment, according to a statement made yesterday by Harry White, of the Harry E. White, Inc., local dealers for the Reo Car.

Mr. White just received some interesting data on this score from H. T. Thomas, of the Reo Motor Car company, who attended the Paris show.

"The tendency toward a cleaner driver's seat is not exactly new," he says. "For upwards of a decade there has been a leaning on the part of both owner and manufacturer to free the front compartment of as much mechanical paraphernalia as possible, but a study of the practices exhibited at the Paris show indicates the tendency is even more marked than in previous years.

Reo After Innovation.

"It has always been the policy of the Reo Motor Car Company, to anticipate popular trends and fancies, and when owners began to demand a cleaner and more simplified control they found that Reo design was ahead of the times.

"A typical example is the fact that Reo pioneered the left hand drive. Another is the placement of ignitnon and lighting switches on the steering column right at the driver's hand. But probably the greatest forward step ever made toward simplifying control, and allowing greater freedom of movement for both the driver and his front seat companion, was the elimination of the hand brake lever.

"The short but easy-to-reach Reo gear shift rod is located well over to the driver's side of the seat, and far enough back on the floor board so that there is no obstruction between the driver and the right fore door.

"The ease and comfort thus afforded the other occupant on the driver's seat is obvious. A cleaner front compartment enables one to leave or enter the car easily and all danger of catching or tearing the clothes on protruding objects is eliminated. In fact, with the front compartment cleared in this manner the front seat easily accommodates three persons without crowding and without inconvenience."

More value for the money is given today in motor vehicles than at any previous time in the business.

Tell Opposition to Rail Dissolution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—Strong opposition to the dissolution of the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific lines was voiced before the interstate commerce commission by Representatives of four large California cities.

F. P. Gregson, representing the Jobbers' Association of Los Angeles and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of that city and traffic adviser of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, declared dissolution of the two roads would work hardship on all concerned.

Shippers especially, he said, would be affected because of delays at new terminal points which would be incidental to the separation and because of the additional expense always attending two-line

Seth Mann, traffic manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber had been opposed to the dissolution since 1913 when it was proposed by the Union Pacific and that its position had not changed.

George J. Bradley, speaking for the California Fruit Exchange, the Pacific Fruit Exchange and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Sacramento declared the separation would be a "bad thing" for the Sacramento valley.

Frank M. Hill of Fresno, manager of the Traffic Association of that city, offered testimony similar to that of Bradley.

Prove Lloyd George Gave Aid to Greece

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Documents printed by the Paris Matin showing that former Premier Lloyd George's government supported Elutherios Venizelos, ex-premier of Greece, in the Greek war against Turkey and actually promised assistance to Greece, caused a sensation here although it had been an open secret that Britain aided the Greeks while the French assisted the Turks.

The matter will be taken up officially in the House of Commons on Monday when Premier Bonar Law will be asked if there is any documentary evidence on record here to show that the British minister at Athens gave the Greeks active support in their military campaign in Asia-Minor.

ASSOCIATED OIL 'GAS' AVAILABLE

Red and Green Trucks Are Beginning Distribution Through Southland

The green and red gasoline trucks of the Associated Oil Company will soon be a familiar sight in Southern California. This company is just beginning the distribution of its Associated Gasoline here.

The company maintains offices in the Pacific Electric Building at Los Angeles and has always had extensive interest in Southern California. It has a large plant investment in San Pedro, a big distributing station at Burbank and other properties in the south which are being expanded rapidly.

The Associated Oil Company has been a foremost factor among big oil companies on the Pacific Coast for nearly a quarter of a century. Many of its stockholders live in Southern California. It owns vast oil field properties, has its own refineries, with over 700 miles of pipe lines and a fleet of modern tankers. The company has branch offices and representatives throughout California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and Utah, in which territories its products—including Cycol Motor Oil and Associated Gasoline—are widely sold.

Associated gasoline is now available to Southern California motorists for the first time and already the flashy Associated signs are appearing on billboards, in the newspapers and in front of leading garages and service stations.

Automobiles selling for $1300 in the United States are traded in Japan for about $2500. The asking price is generally $500 higher in order to make allowances for the chauffeur's commission and for the customary bargaining with the buyer.

Motor Truck Output Shows Big Increase

Reports of the United States Department of Commerce record show that motor truck production in September, 1922, was 27 per cent above September, 1921, though showing an expected decline from summer business. The output for September this year was 18,843, for August this year 24,000 and for September, 1921, 13,648.

NEW TRACT LOTS IN BIG DEMAND

Edwards & Wildey Report Kenneth Crest Property Selling Fast

Kenneth Crest residential sites are reported to be in big demand by Glendale residents who were ofered the pick of the tract last week in advance of the general public opening.

Kenneth Crest is located on the north side of Kenneth Road at Pacific avenue. It is being subdivided and sold by Edwards and Wildey, one of the pioneer real estate firms of southern California. This is their forty-ninth subdivision.

It is pointed out that the fine residential development that has already taken place in the Kenneth Road district and because of the rigid restrictions this new tract is one of the favored high class residential sites near Los Angeles.

Offers Good View.

One fact that has been a big impetus to sales at Kenneth Crest is the panorama of views in every direction. The unrestricted view can be obtained from every lot in the tract it is said.

While Kenneth Crest offers all the advantages of the country estate it is easily accessible to Los Angeles in twenty-five minutes and just a few minutes to the shopping center of Glendale.

Edwards and Wildey look forward to some of the most substantial residential development in Glendale to take place in the new tract as its location is perfect for the ideal American home.

Although the property is admitedly of the highest type the prices are unusually low ranging from $2100 for sites as large as 70x200 feet. This is said to be considerably under prevailing prices for property in the neighborhood.

Women of the ancients used mint to scent their baths.

Winter Festival to Be Given by Church

A winter festival to augment their pledge of $6,500 toward the church organ, is announced by the women of the Central Christian church for all day Tuesday and Tuesday night in the social hall at the church. All women's organizations are participating in the festival and a general invitation has been extended to all Glendalians to attend.

Of course there are to be booths crowded full of attractive Christmas gifts and in addition a special luncheon and dinner will be served at noon and in the evening.

Mrs. J. H. Daugherty is head of the festival committees and is being assisted by Mrs. F. W. Pigg as general treasurer; Mrs. O. L. Kilborn in charge of the dinner; and Mrs. Eva M. Hutton in charge of the booths. Other assistants are officers of the various women's organizations.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Rosa Archer, Mrs. J. E. Peters, Mrs. C. F. Creel and Miss Mary Chester of the Women's Bible class; Mrs. J. H. Daugherty, Mrs. R. P. Jordan, Mrs. Eva M. Hutton, Mrs. Mary Shropshire of the Aid Society; Mrs. Floyd Mercer, Mrs. O. L. Kilborn, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. E. H. Learned of the Missionary Society; Guila Darling, Mrs. Jennie Marple and Mrs. Homer Miller of the Live Cole class.

Mrs. C. Salisbury Reopens Beauty Shop

Mrs. C. Salisbury is being welcomed back by her Glendale friends to the management of the Glendale Beauty Shop at Room 15, 103-A North Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Salisbury was the original proprietor of the shop and therefore the reopening of the shop is of special interest.

Announcement of the reopening states that the most modern and approved methods will be used in scalp and facial treatments, as well as in all other work. All work is to receive the personal attention of Mrs. Salisbury, who is to be assisted by thoroughly competent operators.

It doesn't pay to spend money just to show that you have it.

Church Prosperity Greatly Adds to Glendale Prestige

In discussing the influence of the church as a whole upon the community as a whole we have tried to show that the church is a business asset to a city, the foundation of material prosperity and that by the mere fact of its existence it shuts out agencies that are objectionable in a community of homes.

Still looking at the church from a material standpoint, there is another angle from which it may be seen to be of immense value to a city. Few cities of this size have so many modern church buildings and so much valuable church property as Glendale. Any city's public buildings are among her choicest assets if they are modern and architecturally attractive. Glendale's splendid church buildings are always pointed out with pride to visitors.

The value of church properties in Glendale is probably not less than a million dollars. With parsonages, church schools and hospitals it is likely much more than a million. Take away from Glendale her church buildings and the values her church property represents and the city would be very much the loser. The prestige given to the city by fine churches cannot be overestimated.

MOTORISTS TURN TO CLOSED CARS

P. J. Kelley Says Essex Coach Created to Meet Unusual Demand

Motorists are turning decisively to the closed car because they want the year-round comfort and distinction that the closed car gives, according to P. J. Kelley, of the Kelley-Kline Motor Car Company, local distributers for the Essex and Hudson cars.

Mr. Kelley further asserts that motorists want a machine to keep the lively road performance which they have known in the open car. "For this reason," he says, "the new Essex coach was created to meet a universal demand.

"The coach is a new type that satisfies both demands. It offers the protection and comfort of the closed car in all weathers, and has all the nimble activity of the Essex touring models. It will take you anywhere you went in an open car—and with equal satisfaction and the bird-like ease with which it takes the hills and rough spots. It is attractive and reliable. Its price advantage you cannot ignore. For little more than the open car cost it presents the details of a fine closed car.

Long Service its Judge

"The differences that single out Essex for the high praise of all motorists are not merely in its vastly superior performance. Even its noted official records do not tell all. The vital aspects of its advantage to you are seen only in the long, hard service. You can better appreciate the Essex by comparing it with any car near it in price, after both have seen a year or more of use.

"Of course there are basic reasons why the Essex preserves its smooth performance and continues to serve reliably and economically. They are chiefly to be found in the way it is built. Care and fine workmanship do not stop with readily seen external 'selling points.' They enter equally into the building of parts that you will likely never see. The way Essex cars stand up reveals that workmanship."

Mr. Kelley announced that two carloads of Hudson and Essex cars will be delivered to his plant at 228 North Brand between now and the tenth of the month. They will include Hudson coaches, Essex coaches and "cabs" and a new model speedster.

THIS GEM

Of a five-room bungalow, just completed, will appeal to the most fastideous. The house is actually $500 under the cost to builder, as we know the value of the lot and have the figures of the construction company. The lawn and shrubs have been planted, the little home is ready to move into immediately. Located only a few blocks from the heart of the city. All rooms large and airy. Half-inch best grade hardwood floors. Gas furnace with registers in each room. Tile bath with recess tub and shower. Tile drain board. Superba water heater. Inlaid linoleum on kitchen and breakfast nook, cemented to floor. Nice electric fixtures. Paneled wall paper in living and dining room. Laundry in garage, two tubs. In fact, as complete a little home as you will find any place and at a price that you can not duplicate the house and lot for. It is a pleasure to show this property.

MONEY TO LOAN

PICK OUT YOUR HOME ANYWHERE IN GLENDALE EAGLE ROCK, OR SAN FERNANDO VALLEY I'LL HELP YOU BUY IT

If you can spare $30 per month ($1 per day) above your present expenses, I will help you finance the purchase of a $5000 home.

By this method my clients find that they obtain lower prices from owners; they are paying their rent to themselves; they are paying several hundred dollars less interest and they are acting as their own broker and banker.

I will help finance the purchase of any property to cost from $1000 to as high as you care to go at less than 6 per cent net cost to you for the use of the money needed and all services rendered. The payments you can make each month will govern the extent to which I can serve you.

THE GLENDALE

Five big acts of vaudeville are on the boards at the Glendale Theatre today. The headliner is Richardson Brothers & Christie's novelty, "Two Fun Merchants and a Mack Sennett Girl," for which they carry a special set of scenery. Babe Earle, described as "The Girl with the Quick Feet," gives a dainty performance. Three bauties have a comedy full of laughs and delightful material, called "A Shattered Romance." Bae Pierre Brookhart & Company present the celebrated "French-Indian Mentalist," one of the most amazing mind reading acts in vaudeville. And Brown and Wheeler conclude with a gay little whirl called "Fresh Paint."

In addition, "Don't Shoot," a big feature film starring Herbert Rawlinson, is presented, from the pen of the famous playwright George Bronson Howard.

The T. D. & L.

THE T. D. & L.

"The Impossible Mrs. Bellew," starring the gorgeous Gloria Swanson, will be shown at the T. D. & L. Theatre for the last times today and tonight. It is a moving story of a mother who, wronged by her husband, after experiencing many trials, finds love and happiness. Conrad Nagel supports Miss Swanson with a delightful impersonation, as the lover who brings her this happiness.

In addition, today's bill contains a preview of Jack White's new mermaid comedy, fresh from the camera.

On Sunday, at the T. D. & L. Theatre, "Human Hearts," with House Peters in the stellar role, will be the chief attraction. This film is the picturization of the great stage success of the same name.

CADILLAC AGENCY HAS OWN CREED

Court Motor Company Gives Ten Commandments to Its Salesmen

Cadillac salesmen have been furnished with ten commandments by W. H. Court, of the Court Motor company, Glendale Cadillac distributor, who has ordered that they be used in the sale of every machine sold out of the local salesroom. Mr. Court obtained his novel idea from an article on "Salesmanship" written by Dr. Frank Crane. The commandments follow:

1—Be agreeable! Other things being equal, I go where the salesmen try to please me. I buy clothing, typewriters and automobiles of the man who acts as though he likes me. Exert yourself to make a pleasing impression on me, please. I appreciate it. Hence, dress well. Untidy clothes mean you don't care what I think of your appearance. But don't dress too well. That gives you an air of showing off. Dress just right. If you don't know how, find out. Cultivate a pleasing voice. Learn to converse entertainingly. Cut out all mannerisms. Give me the impression of a gentleman, honest, square, anxious to please, and good natured.

2—Know your goods. Don't let there be any question I can ask you relative to the manufacture, history, distribution or use of what you have to sell that you cannot answer. If you're selling coffee, find out all about where all sorts of coffee come from, and all the points about them. Put in your spare time making of yourself an encyclopedia of information about your goods.

3—Don't argue. Go with me in your talk, not against me. Lead, don't oppose. Don't show me where I am wrong. Dodge a square issue, and show me where in you are right. Suggest, don't antagonize. Arguments as a rule result in irritation, not conviction.

4—Make things plain. Don't use any words I don't understand. You can explain the most complicated matter to a washwoman if you know your subject perfectly and practice using simple language. Don't air your technical knowledge and try to impress me. I want to be flattered, not awed.

5—Tell the truth. Don't lie, or exaggerate, or mislead, or conceal. Let me feel that you are sincere, and mean every word you say, and that every statement you make is of par value. If you represent goods that need lying about, directly or indirectly, quit. There are plenty of articles that are straight and all right. Sell them.

6—Be dependable. Even in small things create the impression that whatever you promise is as much to be depended upon as your signed note. If you make an appointment at 3 p. m., Tuesday, be there at 2:45, or telegraph. If I order goods of a certain grade, let them be found to be exactly of that grade when I receive them.

7—Remember names and faces. If you have not a natural gift for this, acquire it. Get a little book and set down every day the names of those you have met, with their characteristics. Practice this until you become expert. No man likes to be forgotten or to have you ask his name.

8—Don't be egotistic. Eliminate the pronoun I as much as possible from your vocabulary. Talk about me, not yourself. Don't tickle yourself, tickle me; I'm the one you want to win.

9—Think success. Success begins in the mind. Why think fifty cents, when it is just as easy to think fifty dollars? Tell success stories, not incidents of failure and hard luck. Radiate prosperity. Feel prosperous. It's catching. Keep your chin up.

10—Be human. The reason you are hired to sell goods is that you are a human being. Otherwise your employer would have sent a catalogue. So be a human, likable, engaging, full of human electricity. For I patronize as a rule the salesman I like.

Selling goods is the greatest business in the world. It takes all there is in a man. You need to know pyschology, you need tact, intelligence, self-control, courage, persistence and inexhaustible good humor. It is not a job for a second rater. You simply have to make good or go under.

I admire a good salesman because I never was able to sell anything in my life. But I'm a good buyer.

Phonograph Program.

The program of the day was under the direction of "Bill" Bode of the Glendale Music company, 109 North Brand coulevard. This firm furnished the silent boosts, which were picture puzzles depicting a Victrola, and the attendance prize, which was composed of several phonograph records and a number of pieces of late sheet music. It was won by A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street, vice principal of Glendale Union High school.

In announcing the program, Mr. Bode emphasized the fact that all of those taking part in it were members of the local Kiwanis club.

Herbert Henning of 1211 North Columbus avenue interpreted two piano selections: "Nocturne in G. Minor" by Chopin and a French foxtrot. "Ollie" Andresen of 360 Myrtle street sang two solos, "One Fleeting Hour" by Cadman and "Garden of My Heart" by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Two solos were sung by Harry Girard of 230 South Louise street, "Under the Lanterns" and "The Vale." Bill Bode played two saxophone numbers, "Youthfulness" and "Haunting Blues."

Offers Glendale Song.

"Three Little Kittens in a Basket of Sawdust" was sung by a quartet composed of Mr. Henning, Mr. Bode, E. P. Hayward of 142 South Brand boulevard and Allan N. Fairchild of 1725 South Brand boulevard. This quartet also led in singing a new song composed for the occasion by "Bill" Bode the words to which follow:

"We are Glendale Kiwanis
And we want you all to know
That we always boost for Glendale
Wherever we may go.

"We do our part to serve and build
And we brag about it, too,
But we always boost for Glendale
Whatever we may do.

"For we're Glendale Kiwanis
And we want you all to know
That we always boost for Glendale
Wherever we may go.

"We do our part to serve and build
And we brag about it, too,
But we always boost for Glendale
Whatever we may do."

EDWARD HENNES JOINS COMPANY

Becomes Sales Manager of Bolen-Bowler Realty Firm, Announced

Edward Hennes, the well-known realtor, formerly located at 719 South Brand boulevard, has connected himself with the office of the Bolen-Bowler company, 200 East Broadway, in the capacity of sales manager. Mr. Hennes has had a wide and successful experience as a real estate broker in Glendale.

Mr. Hennes stated that the impelling influence in making this connection was the opportunity to do vastly bigger things than he could do alone. The program of Bolen-Bowler company for the year 1923 is set for great results and they feel they are fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Hennes in carrying this program into effect.

Firm Is New One

The Bolen-Bowler company is a new firm made up of John L. Bolen, who formerly operated as the Bolen Realty company on West Broadway, and D. F. Bowler, who has for a number of years been closely associated with Senator Leslie E. Francis of Iowa in various enterprises of Senator Francis'. Some time ago, after Senator Francis had purchased a one-half interest in the Sparr Heights acreage, he wired for Mr. Bowler to come on and become associated in the sale of that property. After coming to Glendale Mr. Bowler came in contact with Mr. Bolen and after some acquaintance they formed a combination to operate the branch office of Francis-Barnum-Walters company in the sale of Sparr Heights property, and, in addition, decided to engage in the general real estate business under the firm name of Bolen-Bowler company.

GOOD HOMESITES BEING OFFERED

Eagle Glen Heights Wins Approval of Investors, Says H. V. Henry

A remarkable increase in the values of residential property has accompanied Glendale's wonderful development as a city of homes, according to H. V. Henry, manager at Eagle Glen Heights for the J. Harvey McCarthy company. Mr. Henry was associated with Mr. McCarthy in the early days of Glendale, when good homesites could be purchased for extremely low prices and he has seen values rise many times over. As an instance, he cites the development by Mr. McCarthy in 1907 of a tract on Central avenue, where fine lots were sold at from $275 to $450 each—lots which today are worth from $2,000 to $6,000. But, coming down to the present day, Mr. Henry points out that these bonanza real estate times still exist.

When Eagle Glen Heights was first put on the market a brief few months ago, there were a few lots sold at slightly less than $2,000 each. Within the past few days three of the purchasers of these lots have refused premiums ranging from fifty to one hundred per cent on their purchases—one of them having refused $4,000 for a lot for which he paid $1800—all of them declaring that they believe that the apex of values has not been reached.

Permanent Homes

As a matter of record, Mr. Henry explains, there has not not been one re-sale at Eagle Glen Heights, all the purchasers not only being content with the bargains, but intending to make the subdivision their permanent home. Despite the enhancment in the values of Eagle Glen Heights, Mr. Henry says that the original prices set by Mr. McCarthy still obtain so that the opportunity for profit still exists.

Since the practical completion of the improvements there has been such an active demand for homesites in this foothill subdivision at the east end of Broadway, that Mr. Henry declares there will not be a lot left for sale in a few days.

POST ABANDONS BUILDING PLANS

Legion Decides It Will Not Attempt Large Project on Sanitarium Site

thrown open again for discussion.

The project was characterized as an out-and-out business proposition by Charles B. Guthrie, chairman of the building committee. He emphasized the fact that the preferred stock was guaranteed seven per cent interest. The statement was made that several persons competent to pass judgment had declared the project financially sound.

Might Extend Option

The probability that the owners of the property would extend the option another thirty days if the post should show any amount of activity before it expires was mentioned by Dr. Mabry. He also commented upon the fact that the trustees of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital had offered the Legion a bonus of $10,000 in offering to consider $70,000 as $80,000 in payment for the property.

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital trustees stood ready to return the $1000 deposited by the Legion on the option according to Dr. Mabry. He admitted that this would be pure generosity on their part. He called attention to a shrinkage of about $350 due to necessary expenses incurred by the building committee. These included an architect's fee of $185 for the preparation of the plans for the proposed buildings, $125 to have the property surveyed and evaluated and $30 for electrotypes to be used in the printing of the necessary prospectus.

No doubt was expressed by anyone but that the project was most meritorious and worthy of the post's attention, but considerable doubt was expressed by a number of those present, including several who said that they had had connections with large investment houses, as to the possibility of men untrained in salesmanship disposing of $70,000 worth of stock in the allotted time.

Upon the second vote on the subject, the count first was tied 21 to 21 with six persons not voting. Col. Evernigton then cast his vote against the project, stating that an organization divided in opinion on such a subject could not hope to put the project over. On the final count, the tally stood 21 for the project and 24 against it.

A motion calling for the dissolution of the building committee and the collection of the remainder of the $1,000 option was then put by Dr. Mabry and carried.

This was followed immediately by a unanimous vote of thanks and appreciation for the work of the building committee.
